LETTER FROM THE EDITOR

Mrs. Williams reading to her 7th grade class.

INTENTIONAL. Intentional is defined as done on purpose or deliberate. This has been our theme for this year in Middle School. Intentional with our instruction. Intentional on duty watching our students as they change classes or at recess/lunch. Intentional with communicating with our parents. Our middle school teachers deliberately select material that reflects our students skills and needs and will continue to all year long.

Intentional teaching does not happen by chance. It is planful, thoughtful, and purposeful.

Meet and Greet was a SUCCESS!

WOW! These words seem to be fitting to describe AEP's first Meet and Greet. This was a fun time had by all. New and veteran parents enjoyed meeting their child's teachers, students enjoyed seeing one another and teachers enjoyed the laid back atmosphere of meeting and greeting parents and students. As one student reported to his teacher "this is the best start to school EVER!" Way to go Bullpups!

Meeti the Pup Kennel!

THE PUP KENNEL

Our very own Destinee Williamson took it upon herself to start AEP's first ever student section. What began as a group of AEP Middle School students meeting together at our first girl's volleyball match has turned into a themed student section for each of the volleyball matches. Destinee created fliers and distributed these across campus inviting all students to attend the volleyball match dressed in Western wear. Our students showed up and showed out. High Energy and well dressed. Way to go Destinee!

Volleyball is HERE

If you have not been to a match you are missing out! Mrs. Pipes and her high energy Lady Bullpups have set AEP's Middle School standard high for athletics. These girls are not only volleyball players but they are their own cheering squad. Practices are held on Monday and Wednesday and matches are held on Thursday. We hope you have a chance to make it to the remaining AEP volleyball matches. We know you will not be disappointed!

BULLPUP BROADCAST

Bullpup Broadcast is a HIT! What started out as a simple newscast idea, Mrs. Postel and her first team of Bullpup Broadcaster's has turned into an instant success. These broadcasts have been sent out bi-weekly and are being shown across the campus in homerooms. There is a weather segment, vocabulary segment, news segment, joke segment and MUCH more. This media class offered by Nicole Postel offers a unique opportunity to expand our student's knowledge past the textbook. Whether you are in front of the camera or behind it, there is a job for our students to be done and enjoy!. What a great day to be a Bullpup!

Aubrey Stoher was selected to be a part of the Lincoln Parish Student Faculty Council. This selection was made based on Aubrey's hard work in the classroom and outside of the classroom. The LPSB Faculty Council meets every three months and seeks input from our students across the parish to better our schools and our community. Way to go Aubrey! What a great day to be a Bullpup!
